An investor making a $1,000 investment would pay $7.60/year based on the net expense ratio or $7.60/year based on the gross expense ratio shown above. The expense ratio includes no service fees payable to the plan's service providers. Because this unit class of the CIF has not yet commenced operations, performance shown above reflects the performance of Class R4 of the CIF, which commenced operations on October 2, 2017, restated to reflect the fees and expenses of this unit class, as shown on the table above.

The performance data quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. The investment return and unit value of the CIF will fluctuate, and units may be worth more or less than their original cost when redeemed. Returns for periods less than one year are cumulative. Performance would have been lower if fees and expenses had not been waived in various periods. Total returns assume the reinvestment of all distributions at net asset value and deduction of all CIF expenses. Performance for other unit classes will vary due to differences in class expenses.

^Expenses consist of the annual management fee and ordinary operating expenses for this particular unit class of the CIF. Gross expenses are the CIF's total annual operating expenses for the unit class indicated. Net expenses are the CIF's total annual operating expenses for the unit class indicated and reflect fee waivers and/or reimbursements, where these reductions reduce the CIF's gross expenses. Hand Benefits & Trust Company, the CIF's Trustee, has agreed to waive fees and/or reimburse operating expenses so that the CIF's annual net expenses do not exceed the value shown above. These waivers and/or reimbursements may be reduced or terminated at any time.

Principal investment risks

Equity securities are subject to price fluctuation and possible loss of principal. Small- and mid-cap stocks involve greater risks and volatility than large-cap stocks. Derivatives, such as options and futures, can be illiquid, may disproportionately increase losses, and have a potentially large impact on Fund performance. Potential active and frequent trading may result in higher transaction costs and increased investor liability. The Fund is more susceptible to any economic, business, political, regulatory or other developments that adversely affect issuers in the financial services industry than a Fund that does not concentrate its investments in the financial services industry. Plans and their participants could lose money by investing in the CIF.

A more complete description of the principal risks of investing in the CIF can be found in the CIF's Investment Policy Statement, which is available upon request by calling Legg Mason Shareholder Services at 1-866-807-0886.
